Recognition Program Archive | Professional Service Awards Recipients

For many years, the AIBC recognized architects and individuals who made outstanding impacts on the profession of architecture through its Recognition Program. The Recognition Program featured the Professional Service Awards, which included: the Lifetime Achievement Award; Special Recognition Award; and the Barbara Dalrymple Memorial Award for Community Service.

In June 2023, the Professional Service Awards were transferred to the Architecture Foundation of B.C., the advocacy body for architecture in British Columbia. This was done in recognition of the AIBC’s regulatory role as a professional regulator, and continued effort to re-allocate any advocacy activities or programs to advocacy-focused organizations. More information about the transfer can be found on the AIBC website.

This document is an archival record of all recipients of the Professional Service Awards: AIBC Lifetime Achievement Award, Special Recognition Award, and the Barbara Dalrymple Memorial Award for Community Service. It also includes a description of each award. Note that as of July 2012, the title “MAIBC” was replaced with Architect AIBC.

If you have any questions about the transfer of the Professional Service Awards or this document, please email communications@aibc.ca.
