Reserve Funds

Policy Statements

- 3.3.27 The Board may occasionally need to address material, significant and unexpected financial requirements. In anticipation of such an event, the Board will develop reserve funds from which it may draw to satisfy such requirements.

Accordingly, the Board and Chief Executive Officer will ensure that:

- 3.3.28 Reserve funds are held separately from operational funds and will not be used for ongoing operational requirements.
- 3.3.29 Any contributions to reserve funds are made first from interest earned in the funds; and then, if necessary from allocations in the following fiscal year's budget.
- 3.3.30 Board approval is obtained for the use of reserve funds. The CEO is informed when the Board decides to use funds from a reserve fund and in what amount. Replenishment of the funds after use (withdrawal) should be made first from accumulated surplus operating funds with the terms of replenishment defined at the time of withdrawal.

- 3.3.31 The Contingency Reserve Fund (CRF) will contain at least $600,000 to cover material, significant, unexpected non-legal costs arising during the course of any fiscal year and not anticipated in the annual budget. (Examples of items that could give rise to consider a withdrawal include, but are not limited to: senior staff severances and related costs, insurance coverage deductibles in the event(s) of damages and/or civil suits, government direction, breach of security, information technology failure, and unplanned Special Meetings).
- 3.3.32 A Legal Reserve Fund (LRF) is established and will contain at least $250,000 (increasing to at least $300,000 by end of 2026) to cover material, significant, and unexpected legal costs arising during the course of any fiscal year and not anticipated in the annual budget; and that the amount of this reserve fund be reviewed annually with the AIBC's general legal counsel.
- 3.3.33 An Operating Reserve Fund (ORF) is established and will contain a minimum of three and a maximum of six months of operating costs, to a maximum of $1,000,000. The amount of the ORF will be calculated each year as part of the budgeting process (amortization and other non-cash expenses are not included in this calculation) and will be funded from accumulated surplus unrestricted operating funds. Any interest earned by the fund that causes the balance to exceed $1,000,000 will be transferred to the other reserve funds until their minimum balance is reached, and then to the Operating Fund as received. This fund is intended to provide an internal source of funds for such situations as a sudden increase in expenses, significant, and material one-time unbudgeted expenses, unanticipated delay or loss of revenue, or uninsured losses.
- 3.3.34 An external risk assessment is undertaken as may be required but no less frequently than every five years so that this Reserve Funds policy continues to meet the needs of the AIBC.
